"His Administration is an epoch in American history. In no other period since the national sovereignty was won under Washington or preserved under under Washington or preserved under Lincoln has there been such mighty progress in those ideals of government which make for justice, equality and fair dealing among men. The highest aspirations of the American people have found voice. Their most valued servant represents the best alms and worthlest purposes of all his countrymen. American manhood has been sifted up to a nobler sense of duty and obligation. Conscience and courage in public station and nigh standard of right and wrong in private life have public station and nigh standard of right and verong in private life have been the cardinal principles of political life. Capital and labor have been brought into closer relations of confidence and interdependence, and the abuse of wealth and the tyranny of power, and all evils and privileged favoritism have ben put to scorn by the simple and manly virtues of justice and fair play.

Mr. Taft dealt with the Democrats Mr. Taft dealt with the Democrats and their platform in no gentle manner. He referred to them in denunciatory and sarcastic phrases, calling attention to what he considered their socialistic tendencies, their disregard for the country's good, their destructive plans, and their willingness to advocate any principle or pelicy for the sake of catching a few votes. They have for years, he said, advocated many impracticable and impossible things because they thought such positions would attract the voters.

attract the voters.

He was greeted with unusual applause when he told his hearers that in the past many patriotic Democrats had found it necessary to forsake the tenets of Bryanism and vote for the Republican ticket. He expressed the opinion and the hope that this will be repeated next November.

Specific on Tariff.

On the tariff he was specific and emphatic. He pointed out that it has long been the Republican policy to maintain a protective tariff. This, he said will be continued. He favored revision because, in the course of the country's development, some things have come to enjoy excessive protection. Excessive been turned over to the Government at protection he does not advocate. What he wants is reasonable protection for the manufactures and industries of the manufactures and industries of the manufacture. Albert L. Key. United States,

The candidate's position on the ques-tion of injunctions also was emphatic He expressed himself as wanting no injunction issued by a court without due notice and hearing, unless the injunction, by an immedioate issuance, will prevent irreparable loss or injury to the person asking it. This policy, if mapped out in a statute, he said, will result in few injunctions without notice and hearing. He dismissed as impracticable and unnecessary the Democratic proposition to have jury trials in such cases.

After reviewing the legislation the Republican party has enacted to benefit laboring men. Mr. Taft said everything they reasonably asked would be done in the future, but he denied their right to threaten or use bodily violence in the furtherance of their strikes and in attaining the ends for which they go on strike. He also declared against the boycott is no uncertain terms.

On the question of the currency, Mr. Taft was brief, contenting himself with saying that the Republican platform has well said that a more elastic and adaptable system is needed in this country.

Such a plan, he said, would mean that the honest banker would have to make good the losses of the dishonest, and that the unprincipled speculator would use the scheme merely for his own enrichment. It would necessitate also, he thought, such close supervision by the Government that it would virtually result in the establishment of a Government bank.

If the plan were adopted as the Democrats have outlined it, he argued, it would mean ruin for the entire banking system of the land. He pointed out interest,

HITS DEMOCRATS

The attitude of the Democratic party under its present leadership is the change for the sake of change to the point of irresponsible destruction; there is no hope whatever of a restoration of prosperity in returning it to power.

The Democratic party under its present leadership in previous campaigns has manifested a willingness to embrace any doctrine which would win votes, with little sense of responsibility for its practical opera-

A better plan, he thought, would be the establishment of a postal savings bank. Mr. Taft concluded his speech with the statement that Republican success at the polls means prosperity for the country, and that Democratic success would mean business disaster.
